

The Murphy Technology Group, Inc. (M19P) is pleased to announce that the company, from this point forward, will be known as Sourcereer.

Ebensburg, Pennsylvania, April 14, 2017 Adam Murphy, President of Sourcereer (formerly The Murphy Technology Group, Inc.), announced that the company will be officially changing its name to Sourcereer, effective immediately. Sourcereer has also relocated its headquarters from Johnstown to 107 South Center Street, Ebensburg, PA 15931, while maintaining an office in Alexandria, VA.

According to Mr. Adam Murphy, President of Sourcereer, “The name change will better reflect the evolving purpose and strategy of the company, as well as the needs of its clients.”

What the name means: Sourcereer is a play on words that combines the root word “Source”—representing its work in source code—with that of “ereer” to show how the company adds magic to its work.

Sourcereer provides Cyber Security support for our Nation’s command and controls systems, Software Systems Engineering Development and Operations Support, and Strategic Management consulting for its clients, and will continue to excel and lead the world in these areas.

Sourcereer asks for your continued patience as it proceeds forward with the name change.
